

nizing that we also have to live in the real world . . . is there anyone, really, who can take Miss Hepburn's place?

Designer Jeffrey Banks, a lifelong friend of Audrey's, would say no. "There is only one Audrey, and there will always only be one Audrey—ever!" But a girl's got to dream, right? So if we had to choose some Audrey-esque Gals We Love . . .

Natalie Portman	Liv Tyler (current face of Givenchy, who also owns Audrey's LV makeup case)	Annette de la Renta	Margaret Curtis
Cate Blanchett	Jessica Yaffa	Vera Wang	Tiffany Dubin
Thandie Newton	Twyla Tharp	Tanya Lewis Lee	Eva Jeanbart-Lorenzotti
Maya Lin	Marguerite Marino	Amy Sacco	Iman
Caroline Kennedy	Uma Thurman	Penelope Cruz	Amy Fine Collins
Selma Blair	Virginia Mailman	Scarlett Johansson	Isabel Toledo
Victoria Brynner	Diana Taylor	Melody Hobson	Visually and esthetically, practically every female on the islands of Japan
Veronica Webb	Sarah Jessica Parker	Pamela Needham
Gina de Givenchy	Marina Rust	Carolina Herrera, Jr.	Pamela Fiori
Audrey Wilder	Jane Bay	Zoe R. Cassavetes	Marjorie Gubelmann
Christy Turlington	L'Wren Scott	Victoria Haas	Oprah Winfrey
Lavinia Currier	Courtney Haas	Aerin Lauder	Susan Dell
Susan Fales-Hill	Naomi Judd	Emily Rossum	Linn Tanzman
Kate Mara	Inès de la Fressange	Jane Goodall	Evelyn McGee-Colbert
Margaret Betts	Elizabeth Saltzman Walker	Natalia Vodianova	Carrie Modine
Nicole Kidman	Reese Witherspoon	Juliana Martinez	Sofia Coppola
Allison Shearmur	Keilana Smith	Michelle Obama	Amanda Ross
Babs Simpson	Paige Stormont	Jodie Foster	Minnie Mortimer Gaghan
Cecilia Peck	Lynn Hirschberg	Connie Wald	Kate Spade
Tiffany A. Stone	Deb Shriver	Lauren duPont	Alexandra Wilk
Anne Cox Chambers		Zelda Sayre	Suri Cruise
Amanda Burden		Tory Burch

And in the Audrey-esque Very Cool Guy Category

Cary Grant	Joe Armstrong	Andy Spade	Joseph Montebello
Narciso Rodriguez	Mr. and Mrs. Tom Hanks	Brad Pitt (during the newly enlightened Angelina Jolie era)	Steven Spielberg
Harry Belafonte	Michael Kors (only in NYC or Paris)	Stephen T. Colbert	James Salter
John Isaac	Peter Bacanovic	Graydon Carter	Damon Dash and Rachel Roy
Johnny Depp, Vanessa Paradis, and all of their current and future children	Don Cheadle	Danny Glover	Robert F. Kennedy, Jr.
Stephen Gaghan	Gilles Mendel	Kenneth Cole	Billy Wilder
	William A. Henry III		Gregory Peck

| Mel Ferrer Manqué |

Brett Ratner

So, okay, your blood is boiling (Jeffrey Banks), you agree with us or disagree. What about your third cousin, your favorite aunt, Calista Flockhart, or that girl from Grey's Anatomy?

Well, let us know what you think.

WOULD AUDREY . . .

Get paid top dollar? Yes. For a good decade, Audrey (along with Elizabeth Taylor) was the highest-paid actress in the world. For My Fair Lady, for example, she received the then staggering $1 million. Her agent arranged for seven annual payments of $142,957.00, in order to help Audrey reduce her tax liability.